ANDREW YOUNG PRESENTS: WHAT'S WRONG WITH NIGERIA?

To many Americans, Nigeria- a country that produces brilliant minds and has had a major influence on global events- draws associations of corruption and other negative stereotypes. Challenging that view, this film, written and narrated by Ambassador Andrew Young, will feature President Carter, former President Obassanjo and the pageantry of President Yar'Adua's installation. The film shows the natural beauty of Nigeria, places that many Nigerians have never seen and features the voices of everyday Nigerians.

Response and panel discussion moderated by Andrew Young
Michael Fagbohun, Head of Chancery, Nigerian Consulate, Atlanta; Emelia Orubele, President, American Nigerian International Chamber Of Commerce ; Media Osayi, Vice President Nigerian Women Association of Georgia, Scarlet Pressley-Brown, Director of External Affairs and VP Delta Foundation
