About the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies

Graduates of the Andrew Young School make important and unique contributions to their communities and the world. Informed by the school’s entrepreneurial approach to scholarship and research, they are well-prepared to plan, manage and evaluate the work of governments, nonprofits and businesses on the local, national and global levels.

Our students are enrolled in one of 18 degree programs offered in four academic departments: Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Public Management and Policy, and the School of Social Work. Advanced degrees are offered in each of these areas, including Ph.D. programs in Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics and Public Policy.

Our ten active research centers foster excellence in the design, implementation and evaluation of policy. In CY2016, our research projects were funded by nearly $35 million in active sponsored grants and yielded more than 235 scholarly articles, chapters and books. Faculty and researchers take a multidisciplinary approach to this work.

More than 2,200 students enroll each semester, creating a diverse and talented group of individuals who are highly sought after as graduates. From Decatur, Georgia, to Yogyakarta, Indonesia, graduates of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies at Georgia State University are changing the world.

• The Department of Economics is ranked No. 10 in the U.S. and No. 23 in the world based on publications in the top 10 regional science journals over the period 2010-2014. In the same ranking, Professor David Sjoquist is ranked as No. 27 in the U.S. and No. 57 in the world. (Rickman and Winters, 2016, http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/10.1111/grow.12152/full).

• Based on an analysis of scholarly output, the Department of Economics is ranked among the top five economics departments in the U.S. South—having moved up 22 positions between 2001 and 2011 (Mixon and Upadhyaya, 2016, http://www.tandfonline.com/doi/full/10.1080/13504851.2016.1145344)
Andrew Young School Academic Departments

Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology

Studies that measure research productivity consistently rate our criminal justice and criminology faculty and programs among the best. Our widely acclaimed faculty continue to shape the knowledge of crime and justice, using their research and experiences to provide our students deeper understanding of criminal justice and criminology issues.

Faculty members tie together research, theory and policy in the courses they teach, providing students a well-rounded education that sets them apart from other criminal justice graduates. A mandatory internship program enables students to integrate their understanding of theory with practice. The department also publishes two highly regarded scholarly journals, Criminal Justice Review and International Criminal Justice Review.

Graduates of the Andrew Young School are well prepared for careers in criminal justice and criminology. Many choose to further their education in top graduate programs and law schools.

Richard Wright is Chair of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology.

Department of Economics

The emphasis on policy distinguishes economics instruction at the Andrew Young School. Faculty specialize in public economics, environmental and labor economics, urban and regional economics, and experimental methods, with growing emphasis on the empirical evaluation of public policies and programs.

A 2014 Southern Economic Journal analysis of the scholarly productivity of economics faculty ranked the Andrew Young School 11th in the fields of public economics, No. 8 in urban and regional economics, No. 14 in general economics and teaching, No. 16 in methodology and history of economic thought, no. 20 in environmental economics, and No. 23 in labor demographic economics.

Graduates of our economics programs are highly sought after. Many are making significant contributions in government, academia and public sector careers.

Shiferaw Girmu is Chair of the Department of Economics.
Department of Public Management and Policy

A culture of knowledge and inquiry advanced by empirical research infuses this department. Our graduates are highly qualified for professional and managerial careers and leadership positions in a wide variety of public, nonprofit and private agencies.

Students inspired by the ideal of community service graduate ready to lead with new knowledge and practices that improve governments and society. Specialties are city management and urban policy, public finance, public and nonprofit management, and public policy analysis. Popular areas of research include transportation, education, health policy, emergency preparedness and relief, and planning and economic development.

Internships and job placements have led Andrew Young School graduates to responsible positions at all levels of government, nonprofit agencies and the private sector. Our graduates work to make the world a better place.

Gregory Lewis is Chair of the Department of Public Management and Policy.

School of Social Work

Excellence and distinctiveness in teaching and learning, research and scholarship, and service and outreach are earmarks of our successful social work program. Our graduates excel in careers that build healthy communities, maximize human potential and promote social and economic justice.

Faculty members have developed deep research expertise in social work contexts and practice areas such as child welfare, restorative justice, housing and income issues, aging, community organizing and practice, mental health and addictions, HIV/AIDS, and health disparities. They work towards social solutions in collaboration with community partners and students, combining classroom and experiential learning.

Undergraduates earn an accredited B.S.W. degree from the largest undergraduate social work program in Georgia. Our accredited M.S.W. program, with its unique concentration in community partnerships, prepares students for social work leadership roles.

Brian Bride is Director of the School of Social Work.
Andrew Young School Research Units

Center for Collaborative Social Work

This center developed out of the School of Social Work’s need for an organizational structure that extended the school’s founding principles beyond the classroom and into the community.

Its mission is to contribute to building and sustaining healthy communities through the utilization of community strengths and resources in the development and application of interventions, program strategies, policy analysis, community-based research and evaluation, the education and training of a multifaceted human services workforce, and the facilitation of community partnerships.

Jan Ivery is Director of the Center for Collaborative Social Work.

Center for State and Local Finance

The Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF) is a policy think tank within the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies. CSLF was created in 2014 to showcase the school’s nationally-ranked public finance faculty and share its expertise with policymaker and practitioner communities. CSLF produces innovative, applied research to inform data-driven policymaking in the public sector and hosts top-notch executive education courses to train the next generation of government finance leaders.

The CSLF’s mission is to develop the people and ideas for next generation public finance through three goals:

• Build reputation of the Center and the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies as a premier institution for non-partisan, innovative scholarship in state and local public finance in the country.
• Build a nationally recognized executive education training program in intermediate and advanced public finance targeted at state and local officials who will provide next generation leadership as Chief Financial Officers and generally serve in public sector finance roles.
• Develop the Center as a go to place in the state of Georgia (and nationally) for new strategies to improve the analysis and delivery of public services through more effective use of data and analytics.

The Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF) is a “spin-off” from the highly regarded Andrew Young School Fiscal Research Center (FRC). The FRC will continue to be a rich repository of information, data, and expertise about Georgia state and local tax policy and state and local tax research will continue to be shared between the two Centers. In addition the CSLF will also focus on the topic areas of education finance, budget and fiscal policy, and urban policy and economic development.

Maggie Reeves is Interim Director of the Center for State and Local Finance.
Evidence-Based Policy Workshop

“Evidence-based policy,” the use of experimental and statistical evidence to improve the effectiveness of public policies and programs, represents a growing focus of governments, nonprofits, and the academic community. The Andrew Young School of Policy Studies has a substantial and unique talent base in this area, as indicated by its Number 18 ranking in the field of “policy analysis” in the U.S. News and World Report’s respected rankings of more than 250 Public Affairs programs. We have experts in quantitative impact analyses using experimental and non-experimental designs, and we have experts in the development of public performance management systems who have close relationships with decision makers. Both are essential for identifying the “what” and the “how” of policy design and implementation.

As part of the Second-Century Initiative, Georgia State University created the Workshop on Evidence-Based policy within the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies to create a focal point for research and outreach to promote policy-oriented research that will support policymaking based on high-quality evidence. Three senior scholars, Tim Sass and Michael Price in Economics and William Pridemore in Criminal Justice/Criminology, were hired as part of the Second Century Initiative in order to enhance the Andrew Young School’s existing base of scholars and serve as a core leadership team for the Workshop.

As a hub of energy and activity, the Workshop brings together faculty and center researchers to catalyze interdisciplinary inquiry in evidence-based policy. By providing leadership, high-profile colloquia and lecture series, and an institutional umbrella for research working groups and visiting faculty and graduate students, the Workshop serves as a catalyst for increasing the engagement and raising the international profile of the Andrew Young School and Georgia State in solving society’s most pressing problems.

Experimental Economics Center

The Experimental Economics Center (ExCEN) supports research, teaching and policy applications involving controlled experiments to promote the development and application of economics and related academic disciplines as empirical science. Ongoing research in ExCEN involves the development of economic theory supported by data and of new experimental methods to support policy applications.

ExCEN’s research and teaching support facilities include the experimental economics laboratory and EconPort (http://econport.org), an economics digital library and virtual laboratory used by researchers and teachers worldwide. External funding is provided by the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, while core support comes from the Georgia Research Alliance and the state government.

Fiscal Research Center

The Fiscal Research Center (FRC) is the focal point for the study of state and local fiscal issues. Research staff and affiliated faculty conduct research and provide technical assistance on the important array of fiscal issues facing state and local governments in Georgia and the United States. Georgia’s state and local government agencies and elected officials turn to the FRC as the principal provider of policy analysis in areas that include national, state and local tax policy, fiscal analysis, federal tax impacts on states, education finance, government budgeting, intergovernmental fiscal relations, state economic development policy, and state and local economic conditions. The FRC also houses Georgia’s state fiscal economist, who is charged with developing revenue forecasts and analysis of legislation.

In 2014, the Fiscal Research Center spun off the Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF). The FRC proper continues to focus on Georgia state and local tax policy while the CSLF has a broader mission of research, training, and technical assistance focused on “next generation public finance.” State and local tax research continues to be shared between the two Centers, while the CSLF also focuses on the topic areas of education finance, budget and fiscal policy, and urban policy and economic development.

Georgia Health Policy Center

The Georgia Health Policy Center (GHPC) connects decision makers with the information and guidance needed to make informed choices about health policy. Celebrating more than 16 years, the GHPC is at work nationwide looking for and finding solutions to some of the most complex issues facing health care today, including long-term care, children’s health, health care reform and the development of rural and urban health systems.

The center’s core functions – evaluation, technical assistance, strategic planning, meeting design and facilitation, policy analysis and grants management – are used in a wide variety of projects locally, statewide and nationally.

Karen J. Minyard is Director of the Georgia Health Policy Center.
Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange

The award-winning Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange (GILEE) is a joint project of Georgia State University and local, state, federal and international law enforcement and public safety agencies.

Working in cooperation with the corporate sector and civic groups to better deal with threats to public safety and improve security, GILEE enhances law enforcement executive development with peer-to-peer on-site professional training and international cooperation.

GILEE’s professional training exchanges of law enforcement leaders advances their knowledge of valuable security tactics in areas that include emergency management, homeland security, violent crime, special events, and the myriad of issues concerning urban and rural policing.

Robert R. Friedmann is the founder and Director of GILEE, ILEE, and several other initiatives that emphasize active involvement in a multitude of university-community partnerships.

International Center for Public Policy

This International Center for Public Policy (ICePP) supports sound government policy and sustainable economic growth in the world’s developing and transitional economies by promoting the expert design, implementation and evaluation of public policies. Faculty and researchers conduct internationally oriented research and training programs and provide technical assistance to fiscal decision makers from around the globe.

ICePP trains public finance professionals who take the skills they learn back to their local and national governments. Our faculty members are recognized worldwide for their work in public economics. Their contributions have positioned the Andrew Young School as a critical capacity builder in many important emerging countries.

Jorge Martinez-Vazquez is Director of the International Center for Public Policy.
Nonprofit Studies Program

The Andrew Young School’s Nonprofit Studies Program shows how the basic principles of policy analysis, economics and management apply to the nonprofit sector. Its strong emphasis on teaching nonprofit management and leadership in this context gives the program an advantage in training future nonprofit managers and directors.

The Nonprofit Studies Program collaborates with Atlanta’s nonprofit and philanthropic leaders on research and sector development. It promotes policy research relevant in today’s economic and political environments, and links the scholars and nonprofit practitioners who are developing and disseminating knowledge about this sector.

John F. O’Kane is Director of the Nonprofit Studies Program.

Public Performance and Management Group

The Public Performance and Management Group (PPM) seeks to energize the pursuit of performance in public organizations. Core activities include research and analysis, training, evaluation and the dissemination of information on best practices.

This group works with governments to solve policy and management problems and conducts research that focuses on providing solutions. Its home base, Atlanta, is a state capital and an important urban center, and PPM makes the most of this exciting location. PPM’s projects tend to focus on state government, city issues and projects that produce local impacts.

Greg Streib is Director of the Public Performance and Management Group.

W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group

The W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group includes scholars at the Andrew Young School with research interests bearing on the workplace, labor markets, education, health, and related areas. In addition, related activities include the annual W.J. Usery Distinguished Lecture Series, seminar speakers, and an occasional research conference.

Barry Hirsch is the W.J. Usery Chair of the American Workplace and coordinates the Usery Workplace Research Group.

Papers, Books and Chapters: Published or Forthcoming

During 2016, about 235 scholarly papers, chapters, reports, and books were published or forthcoming. It is also important to note that 30% of the published or accepted papers in 2016 were joint products of AYSPS faculty members and research associates. AYSPS coauthors are bold within the entry, and student and alumni are indicated with an asterisk.

Outreach and Technical Support
State and Local Community Service

Outreach is an essential part of the mission of the Andrew Young School. Faculty, research associates and graduate students were heavily involved in Georgia and in the Atlanta region, in all manner of ways. We developed and implemented training programs, carried out applied research projects, spoke at public and private meetings, worked directly with government officials in evaluation of policy options, and served on boards of non-profit agencies. We tried to help make better policy in our state and believe we have added value in many areas. The following listing shows the very great breadth of our state and community service.

Advancement
Dean’s Council

The Board of Advisors is an important part of the Andrew Young School. Members provide ideas and suggestions, serve as a sounding board of our ideas, and represent us in the community.

AYSPS Dean’s Council
Our board is a non-governing advisory board, with a strong focus on the advancement of the School and helping the AYS achieve its mission by providing resources, assistance and advice. The Board meets quarterly.

We ask each board member to find an area of particular interest in the School, such as one of our centers, programs or departments. We want them to learn about that program in some depth, get involved with what the program does, and then help us find intellectual and practitioner support as well as core funding for that program. This is a long-term activity—it takes time to develop programs and to raise funds. Board members provide critical perspective, and their advice and leadership are very important to us.

Development Highlights

Endowment
The Andrew Young School continues to grow our endowment through gifts and earnings. As of December 31, 2016, the total endowment for the college stood at nearly $14 million, representing funds for professorships, scholarships, and operations.

In November 2016, Andrew Young was excited to announce the beginning of our Dean's Circle. The Dean's Circle is an annual giving program that recognizes the generosity of our alumni, parents and friends who have contributed $1,000 or more to any of the college's funds. Annual gifts from the Andrew Young School's Dean's Circle members are responsible for wonderful and life-changing accomplishments for our students and faculty. These gifts help the college provide student scholarships, recruit and retain talented faculty, and support innovated and impactful programs and research.

Outreach
Through donor support, the Andrew Young School was able to sponsor numerous outreach activities and public seminars covering important public policy, economic, criminal justice and social work topics.

Public Relations & Marketing

Public relations for the Andrew Young School, along with digital and marketing communications, saw many new changes and successes in 2016. Media relations grew with an expanded number of targeted news releases and expanded social media activity.

The school’s 20th Anniversary celebration was supported by a beautiful, comprehensive graphic timeline on the AYS website and on monitors system-wide. The timeline was expanded into a compelling booklet and poster that graphically display the history of the school and its people. These pieces were mailed to all AYS alumni and friends and were distributed at the well-attended 20th Anniversary Celebration keynoted by former Health & Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius.

The Briefing, the school’s 18-year-old former newsletter, was redesigned by Georgia State’s PR/ Marcomm office with more features and a greater emphasis on graphics, photos and a new design. Now named the Andrew Young School Magazine, it will publish twice a year. More features and photos from the magazine were also posted on the gsu.edu website, bringing it to the attention of an expanded audience.

New digital applications are aiding the school in meeting several key goals. First, many of the AYS units housed on the school’s website – asyp.gsu.edu – were updated, and the office supported the Dean’s Office’s Graduate Admissions Campaign, which by early 2017 was showing great success in the uptick in the number of new applications processed by the Office of Academic Assistance. Also, the Dean’s eNews was digitized. It now goes out as a MailChimp email newsletter with links that lead readers to faculty bios, research and media hits. And the school’s faculty were offered a series of social media training sessions to learn how to bolster their personal brands and expand awareness of the school.

The word about our faculty expertise is out! AYS media hits reported to the Dean’s Office jumped to more than 200, a 74 percent increase over the 115 reported in 2015. In summary, our school’s research and faculty were named nearly two dozen times in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, another six in the Atlanta Business Chronicle, and nine times on WABE radio including two live broadcasts on “Closer Look with Rose Scott and Jim Burress.” There were at least six appearances on local television stations WSBTV and 11 Alive, and stories in the Houston Chronicle and Indianapolis Star, whose online stories attract a combined 8.1 million unique viewers per month.

Our faculty and their work appeared on national and international media channels as varied as CNN, BBC Newshour, Cosmopolitan, Entrepreneur.com, Le Monde, Money Magazine, Nature (3 times), NBC News, Newsweek, National Public Radio (4 times) Science, Slate, The Atlantic, TIME, U.S. News & World Report, Wall Street Journal (41.5 million unique monthly viewers) and the Washington Post. Other important hits included those in Education Week, the Chronicle of Philanthropy, Federal News Radio, Inside Higher Ed, WalletHub (3 times) and The Conversation. Some of the more unique channels on which our work appeared included the National Law Review, the Shillong Times (India) and the North Korea Times. A look at this activity by faculty follows.
