INTERDISCIPLINARY GLOBAL SEMINAR: A FIELD STUDY IN THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

SPONSORED BY THE ANDREW YOUNG SCHOOL OF POLICY STUDIES

Spring Break Study Abroad Program
March 9 - 17, 2018

Program Directors
Prof. Cyntoria Johnson: Cjohnson5@gsu.edu
Dr. Kim Ramsey-White: kwhite@gsu.edu

Program Description
The Interdisciplinary Global Seminar study abroad program offers a 10-day overseas academic adventure on the southern coast of Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. The program provides an opportunity for students to increase their cross-cultural awareness, while also allowing them to gain an understanding and appreciation for the way of life in the Caribbean. Students will study social justice and health disparities from an international, comparative perspective. The Spring Break program includes guest lectures from local experts, homestays with local families, a service learning project in the community, and excursions to cultural and historical sites. Classes are held throughout the spring semester in a hybrid format (online and in-person), culminating with a study tour during Spring Break filled with cross-cultural activities. While abroad, students will immerse themselves in the Dominican culture, rich and unique history, breathtaking natural beauty, and tasty cuisine.

Application Information
Students interested in applying should find this program’s listing at mystudyabroad.gsu.edu and begin an online application.

Transient Students: please see the Transient Students tab on the How to Apply page of our website.

International students at Georgia State who hold F-1 visas must contact the Office of International Students and Scholar Services at (404) 413-2070 to discuss possible implications of study abroad for their immigration status.
