About the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies

Our school and its graduates, students, faculty and staff strengthen communities in Georgia and across the globe through policy research, scholarship, public engagement and the development of leaders.

Our strong course work provides students the skills and knowledge needed to address the tough problems facing communities, government and nonprofit agencies. Graduates of the Andrew Young School make important and unique contributions to their communities and the world. Informed by the school’s entrepreneurial approach to scholarship and research, they are well-prepared to plan, manage and evaluate the work of governments, nonprofits and businesses on the local, national and global levels.

Our students are enrolled in one of 29 degree programs offered in four academic departments: Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Public Management and Policy, and the School of Social Work. Advanced degrees are offered in each of these areas, including Ph.D. programs in Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, and Public Policy; or in one of two certification programs.

Our ten active research centers foster excellence in the design, implementation and evaluation of policy. In CY2019, our research projects were funded by $28 million in active sponsored grants and yielded xx scholarly articles, chapters and books. Faculty and researchers take a multidisciplinary approach to this work.

More than 2,100 students enroll each semester, creating a diverse and talented group of individuals who are highly sought after as graduates. From Decatur, Georgia, to Yogjakarta, Indonesia, graduates of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies at Georgia State University are changing the world.

Atlanta & Global Connections

- Our students complete more than 137,500 internship and community service hours during the year.
- Our faculty, students and research associates have worked in more than 60 countries.
- We encourage study abroad programs that provide a wide variety of experiences in policy and practice.
- Programs such as the USAID-funded Indonesian Master’s Program bring students from around the world into our classrooms, exposing our students to the broader world.

Andrew Young School Academic Departments

Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology

Studies that measure research productivity consistently rate our criminal justice and criminology faculty and programs among the best. Our widely acclaimed faculty continue to shape the knowledge of crime and justice, using their research and experiences to provide our students deeper understanding of criminal justice and criminology issues.

Faculty members tie together research, theory and policy in the courses they teach, providing students a well-rounded education that sets them apart from other criminal justice graduates. A mandatory internship program enables students to integrate their understanding of theory with practice. The department also publishes two highly regarded scholarly journals, Criminal Justice Review and International Criminal Justice Review.

Graduates of the Andrew Young School are well prepared for careers in criminal justice and criminology. Many choose to further their education in top graduate programs and law schools.

Dean Dabney is Chair of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology.

Department of Economics

The emphasis on policy distinguishes economics instruction at the Andrew Young School. Faculty specialize in public economics, environmental and labor economics, urban and regional economics, and experimental methods, with growing emphasis on the empirical evaluation of public policies and programs. The department features innovative research resources, including the Experimental Economics Laboratory, and maintains a strong multi-disciplinary approach to policy analysis. The department has 31 full-time faculty members, and will grow over the next five years to over 40 faculty, making it one of the largest economics departments in the country. A full range of degrees – Bachelors, Masters, and Ph.D. degrees – is offered.

A 2014 Southern Economic Journal analysis of the scholarly productivity of economics faculty ranked the Andrew Young School 11th in the fields of public economics, No. 8 in urban and regional economics, No. 14 in general economics and teaching, No. 16 in methodology and history of economic thought, no. 20 in environmental economics, and No. 23 in labor demographic economics.

Graduates of our economics programs are highly sought after. Many are making significant contributions in government, academia and public sector careers.

Shiferaw Girmu is Chair of the Department of Economics.
Department of Public Management and Policy

A culture of knowledge and inquiry advanced by empirical research infuses this department. Our graduates are highly qualified for professional and managerial careers and leadership positions in a wide variety of public, nonprofit and private agencies. Students inspired by the ideal of community service graduate ready to lead with new knowledge and practices that improve governments and society. Specialties are city management and urban policy, public finance, public and nonprofit management, and public policy analysis. Popular areas of research include transportation, education, health policy, emergency preparedness and relief, and planning and economic development.

Internships and job placements have led Andrew Young School graduates to responsible positions at all levels of government, nonprofit agencies and the private sector. Our graduates work to make the world a better place.

Cathy Yang Lui is Chair of the Department of Public Management and Policy.

School of Social Work

Excellence and distinctiveness in teaching and learning, research and scholarship, and service and outreach are earmarks of our successful social work program. Our graduates excel in careers that build healthy communities, maximize human potential and promote social and economic justice.

Faculty members have developed deep research expertise in social work contexts and practice areas such as child welfare, restorative justice, housing and income issues, aging, community organizing and practice, mental health and addictions, HIV/AIDS, and health disparities. They work towards social solutions in collaboration with community partners and students, combining classroom and experiential learning.

Undergraduates earn an accredited B.S.W. degree from the largest undergraduate social work program in Georgia. Our accredited M.S.W. program, with its unique concentration in community partnerships, prepares students for social work leadership roles.

Brian Bride is Director of the School of Social Work.
Andrew Young School Research Units

Center for State and Local Finance

The Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF) connects policymakers, practitioners and academics in public finance through innovative policy research and consulting, as well as premier executive education for state and local leaders. The center includes a team of administrative staff, researchers, affiliated faculty and graduate research assistants, who work together to serve governments and citizens in Georgia and beyond. CSLF is part of the Andrew Young School’s Public Finance Research Cluster. The Fiscal Research Center and the International Center for Public Policy also operate under this umbrella structure. The cluster is aimed at strengthening the school’s applied public finance research and training.

Jorge-Martinez-Vasquez leads the Public Finance Research Cluster.

Evidence-Based Cybersecurity Research Group

The Evidence-Based Cybersecurity Research Group seeks to collect and produce evidence from each of the key junctures formed by the online interaction between the different actors that drive cybercrime in effort to guide policy decisions and design technical tools that will allow effective prevention and mitigation of cybercrime incidents.

This group, a partnership between GSU’s Andrew Young School, the College of Arts & Sciences, and the J. Mack Robinson College of Business, use science to minimize cyber harm, this involves nudging cybercriminals to reveal themselves on attacked systems and networks, while encouraging legitimate users to take protective actions.

David Maimon is Director of the Evidence Based Cybersecurity Research Group.

Experimental Economics Center

The Experimental Economics Center (ExCEN) supports research, teaching and policy applications involving controlled experiments to promote the development and application of economics and related academic disciplines as empirical science. Ongoing research in ExCEN involves the development of economic theory supported by data and of new experimental methods to support policy applications. ExCEN’s research and teaching support facilities include the experimental economics laboratory and EconPort (http://econport.org), an economics digital library and virtual laboratory used by researchers and teachers worldwide. External funding is provided by the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, while core support comes from the Georgia Research Alliance and the state government.

Fiscal Research Center

The Fiscal Research Center (FRC) is the focal point for the study of state and local fiscal issues. Research staff and affiliated faculty conduct research and provide technical assistance on the important array of fiscal issues facing state and local governments in Georgia and the United States. Georgia’s state and local government agencies and elected officials turn to the FRC as the principal provider of policy analysis in areas that include national, state and local tax policy, fiscal analysis, federal tax impacts on states, education finance, government budgeting, intergovernmental fiscal relations, state economic development policy, and state and local economic conditions. The FRC also houses Georgia’s state fiscal economist, who is charged with developing revenue forecasts and analysis of legislation.

Georgia Health Policy Center

The Georgia Health Policy Center (GHPC) connects policymakers with the information and guidance needed to make informed decisions about health policy. The center focuses on solutions to some of the toughest issues challenging health and well-being, including access to care, financing health care and broader social determinants of health, and aligning stakeholders to effectively serve society’s most vulnerable, including children, the uninsured, those living in rural areas, individuals with behavioral health issues, and the elderly and disabled. The center’s core functions include research and evaluation, technical assistance, strategic planning, meeting design and facilitation, policy and economic analysis, and grants management.

Celebrating more than two decades of service, the GHPC is currently at work in more than 220 communities across the nation and internationally. In fiscal year 2019, the center had $12.3 million in sponsored funding; 70+ active contracts; and more than 85 faculty and staff. The center also has the honor of working with 14 student assistants, 15 graduate assistants, and 16 faculty across five schools at Georgia State University.

In 2019 GHPC launched two large, national projects, with support from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

- Aligning Systems for Health: Health Care + Public Health + Social Services focuses on learning about and sharing effective ways to align health care, public health, and social services to better meet the goals and needs of the people they serve.
- Local Wellness Funds: Advancing the Practice will expand understanding and dissemination of tools to establish these funds and successfully grow them as a strategy to sustainably assemble resources to finance community prevention efforts and address upstream drivers of health.

GHPC continues to serve as the home to the Atlanta Regional Collaborative for Health Improvement, Communities Joined in Action, and the Center of Excellence for Children’s Behavioral Health.

Karen J. Minyard, Ph.D., serves as CEO of GHPC. The center’s executive team also includes Kelli Burgos MBA; Ann DiGirolamo, Ph.D.; Glenn Landers, Sc.D.; Chris Parker, M.B.B.S.; Annette Pope, M.P.A; and Angela Snyder, Ph.D.
Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange

The award-winning Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange (GILEE) is a joint project of Georgia State University and local, state, federal and international law enforcement and public safety agencies. Working in cooperation with the corporate sector and civic groups to better deal with threats to public safety and improve security, GILEE enhances law enforcement executive development with peer-to-peer on-site professional training and international cooperation. GILEE’s professional training exchanges of law enforcement leaders advance their knowledge of valuable public safety principles in areas that include emergency management, homeland security, violent crime, special events, and the myriad of issues concerning urban and rural policing. GILEE has carried out 500 programs for more than 1,800 law enforcement and other executives. Of those programs, more than 230 were special briefings, seminars, and workshops for more than 33,000 public safety and corporate security officials in or from more than 29 states and 26 countries.

Robert R. Friedmann is the founding Director of GILEE, which emphasizes active involvement in university-community law enforcement partnerships.

Georgia Policy Labs

The Georgia Policy Labs is a collaboration between Georgia State University and a variety of government agencies to promote evidence-based policy development. GPL works to create an environment where policymakers have the information and tools available to improve the effectiveness of existing government policies and programs, try out new ideas for addressing pressing issues and decide what new initiatives are promising enough to scale up. The ultimate goal is to help government entities more effectively use scarce resources and make a positive difference in people’s lives.

Tim Sass and Daniel Kreisman direct Georgia Policy Labs.

International Center for Public Policy

This International Center for Public Policy (ICePP) supports sound government policy and sustainable economic growth in the world’s developing and transitional economies by promoting the expert design, implementation and evaluation of public policies. Faculty and researchers conduct internationally oriented research and training programs and provide technical assistance to fiscal decision makers from around the globe. ICePP trains public finance professionals who take the skills they learn back to their local and national governments. Our faculty members are recognized worldwide for their work in public economics. Their contributions have positioned the Andrew Young School as a critical capacity builder in many important emerging countries.

Jorge Martinez-Vazquez is Director of the International Center for Public Policy.
Nonprofit Studies Program

The Nonprofit Studies Program shows how the basic principles of policy analysis, economics and management apply to the nonprofit sector. Its strong emphasis on teaching nonprofit management and leadership in this context gives the program an advantage in training future nonprofit managers and directors. The program collaborates with Atlanta’s nonprofit and philanthropic leaders on research and sector development. It promotes policy research relevant in today’s economic and political environments, and links the scholars and nonprofit practitioners who are developing and disseminating knowledge about this sector.

John F. O’Kane is Director of the Nonprofit Studies Program.

Professional Excellence Program

The Professional Excellence Program provides innovative training and development opportunities to those who serve children and families in a variety of settings to include child welfare, education, healthcare, judicial, and community programs. The center’s mission is to support effective practice in work with children and families through the provision of quality professional development and training opportunities.

Sheila Blanton is the director of the Professional Excellence Program.

Urban Studies Institute

The Urban Studies Institute conducts top-level urban research, offers an innovative and specialized interdisciplinary curriculum, and engages with stakeholders in metropolitan Atlanta and in other cities around the world. The Institute’s research agenda ranges from local to global, from urban theory to policy research. Research themes emphasize urban economic resilience, inclusive development, and urban sustainability. It is housed in the Andrew Young School and its research and teaching engagements reach across the University. It is presently composed of five tenured or tenure track faculty, two post-doctoral researchers, and 25 affiliate faculty from a range of schools and disciplines.

Jan Nijman is Director of the Urban Studies Institute.

W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group

The W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group includes scholars at the Andrew Young School with research interests bearing on the workplace, labor markets, education, health, and related areas. In addition, related activities include the annual W.J. Usery Distinguished Lecture Series, seminar speakers, and an occasional research conference.

Tim Sass is the W.J. Usery Chair of the American Workplace and coordinates the Usery Workplace Research Group.
Faculty and Professional Staff Activities
Papers, Books, & Chapters: Published or Forthcoming

During 2019, faculty and research staff published 186 scholarly papers, chapters, reports, articles, and books. These works appeared in print or electronic pre-publication in 2019 or are accepted and forthcoming. It is also important to note that about 30% of the published or accepted papers in 2019 were joint products of AYSPS faculty members, students, alumni, and research associates.

Outreach & Technical Support
State & Local Community Service

Outreach is an essential part of the mission of the Andrew Young School. Faculty, research associates and graduate students were heavily involved in Georgia and in the Atlanta region, in all manner of ways. We developed and implemented training programs, carried out applied research projects, spoke at public and private meetings, worked directly with government officials in evaluation of policy options, and served on boards of non-profit agencies. We tried to help make better policy in our state and believe we have added value in many areas. The following listing shows the great breadth of our state and community service.

Advancement
Dean’s Council

The Dean’s Council is an important part of the Andrew Young School. Members provide ideas and suggestions, serve as a sounding board for our ideas, and represent us in the community.

AYSPS Dean’s Council

The council is a non-governing advisory group, with a strong focus on the advancement of the College and helping the AYS achieve its mission by providing resources, assistance, and advice. The council meets bi-annually.

We ask each council member to find an area of interest in the College such as one of our centers, programs, or departments. We want them to learn about that program in some depth, get involved with what the program does, and then help us find intellectual and practitioner support as well as core funding for that program. This is a long-term activity—it takes time to develop programs and to raise funds. Council members provide critical perspective, and their advice and leadership are very important to us.

Development Highlights & Endowment

Endowment
The Andrew Young School continues to grow our endowment through gifts and earnings. At the end of FY19, the total endowment for the college stood at $14,354,149.24, representing funds for professorships, scholarships and operations. AYSPS continued work with its Dean’s Society, an annual giving program that recognizes the generosity of our alumni, parents, and friends who have contributed $1,000 or more to any of the college’s funds. Annual gifts from the Andrew Young School’s Dean’s Society members are responsible for wonderful and life-changing accomplishments for our students and faculty. These gifts help the college provide student scholarships, recruit and retain talented faculty, and support innovative and high-impact programs and research.

Outreach
Through donor support, the Andrew Young School was able to sponsor numerous outreach activities and public seminars covering important public policy, economic, criminal justice, urban studies, and social work topics.

Scholarships
In FY19, the Andrew Young School awarded 89 students and provided $318,014.50 in scholarship assistance to all degree levels; Associate, Bachelor, Master, Graduate Certificate, PhD and Post-Baccalaureate degrees.

Public Relations, Marketing & Digital Communications

In 2019, new activities for the Andrew Young School’s Public Relations, Marketing & Digital Communications team included producing the Highlights digital and print campaign to expand the audience, scope and impact of news about the school, developing and executing the strategic internal communications campaign to support the school’s Digital Landscape initiative – including early work with PRMC on its brand messaging platform, conducting a communications audit of the college – and developing a new podcast series, the Andrew Young School podcast.

The AYS PR team worked closely with Georgia State’s PR/Marcomm team to produce GSU’s new AYS Highlights campaign, replacing the AYS Magazine. The product included a print brochure with stories and key facts about the school which were then shared in several different email newsletters targeted to various key audiences, on social media and on the GSU and AYS websites. Analytics showing email readership were high and averaged in the 40th percentile, depending on the audience.

The strategic communications campaign developed to support the school’s Digital Landscape Initiative, essentially an important change management strategic planning campaign, introduced regular taped video messages from the Dean and a school-wide book club to the school’s faculty, staff and friends, all produced by the AYS’s PR/Digital Communications team. This campaign, which ran on schedule through the year, also included a series of stories and the development of a brand messaging platform that will be launched in August 2020.

In addition to the Digital Landscape campaign mentioned above, the unit conducted a strategic communications audit of the college to better understand the PR/marketing needs of the units, plan and develop guidelines and toolkits to better serve their needs, and to improve the efficiencies and effectiveness of the PR/digital communications services this unit provides.

The popular new Andrew Young School podcast produced internally by Taylor Olmstead launched in March 2019 with an interview of Amb. Andrew Young. Three more episodes were produced in 2019, and production is now monthly. https://news.gsu.edu/series/the-andrew-young-school-podcast/

WEB & SOCIAL MEDIA

The production of web content profiling the school’s research and people rose from 70 unique stories published on the Georgia State and Andrew Young School news hubs in 2018 to 83 total stories in 2019, several in collaboration with Georgia State’s PR/Marcomm team.
