BYLAWS

ARTICLE I. PURPOSES

Section 1. These Bylaws shall serve to provide the necessary rules governing the composition, organization, and procedures of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies.

Section 2. These Bylaws shall enable the Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies to implement effectively the authority granted to it by the Statutes of Georgia State University and by the Policies of the Board of Regents, University System of Georgia.

ARTICLE II. COMPOSITION OF THE FACULTY

Section 1. The Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies shall consist of the Dean of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, chairs and directors of academic units, and all individuals who hold the rank of professor, associate professor, assistant professor, professor of practice, research professor, research associate professor, research assistant professor, academic professional, clinical professor, clinical associate professor, clinical assistant professor, clinical instructor, instructor, or lecturer in the School. The President and the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost of Georgia State University shall be ex officio members of the Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies. Georgia State University Faculty members holding joint appointments within the School shall be members of the Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies provided that: 1) the appointment has been made by the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost as provided for in the University's policies and procedures, and 2) the Dean of the School has recommended and the involved department(s) has approved granting Faculty status for the individual. Except as otherwise provided in this Section, adjunct faculty, emeriti, faculty employed beyond retirement, limited term faculty, temporary instructors, and part-time faculty may attend faculty meetings as indicated in Article III, Section 2 of these Bylaws, but may not vote, hold office or, except in an advisory capacity, serve on committees of the School unless otherwise stipulated in the Bylaws.
Section 2. Appointments of the administrative, research, and teaching faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies shall be recommended by the Dean, through appropriate administrative channels, to the President for approval by the Board of Regents.

ARTICLE III. MEETINGS OF THE FACULTY

Section 1. The Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies shall hold at least one regular meeting during the fall and spring semesters, and will meet during the summer semester as needed. The regular meetings shall be held on dates to be determined by the Dean of the School and disseminated to the faculty in advance. The Faculty at any regular meeting may by majority vote, a quorum being present, establish the date of the next regular meeting. Special meetings may be called by the Dean of the School on the Dean's own initiative or must be called upon a petition signed by twenty percent of the voting members of the Faculty, as defined in Article II, Section 1. At least three days prior to any special meeting, except in an emergency, the Dean or the Dean’s designee shall notify each Faculty member of such meeting and its purpose.

Section 2. Only members of the Faculty of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies have the privilege of voting, and non-members of the Faculty shall have the privilege of the floor only when specifically provided for by the Faculty. The Dean may invite guests, including faculty whose appointments are in other colleges of the university and administrators without faculty rank in the School for special purposes pertaining to their responsibilities. Such guests may be granted the privilege of the floor, but may not vote.

Section 3. The presiding officer of both regular and special meetings shall be the Dean of the School. In the absence of the Dean, the presiding officer shall be a person designated by the Dean.

Section 4. A Parliamentarian shall be appointed by the Dean. The Parliamentarian shall serve as final arbiter on parliamentary law and procedure and shall advise the presiding officer prior to rulings on controversial questions.

Section 5. The order of business at all specially called meetings shall be restricted to the consideration of the matter(s) stated in the call of the meeting.

Section 6. At all meetings of the Faculty, a minimum of fifty percent of those faculty members entitled to vote, as defined in Article II, Section 1, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and no decisions requiring Faculty action shall be made without the vote of a majority of the Faculty members present and entitled to vote.
Section 7. The Dean shall develop an agenda for the faculty with input from the School leadership team. The Faculty, by a two-thirds (2/3) majority, may vote to suspend committee review of a specific matter and act as a committee of the whole. Special committees may be appointed only where standing committees do not have jurisdiction. On such matters, the committee shall report to the Faculty its recommendation(s) by the next regular Faculty meeting or as soon as practical.

Section 8. The Dean shall designate a Secretary for administration of faculty meetings. Minutes of Faculty meetings shall be recorded by Dean’s Office administrative staff and prepared in draft form for the Secretary, who shall certify the minutes prior to distribution. A copy of the minutes shall be furnished, either in electronic or paper form, to each member of the Faculty at least five (5) working days in advance of the next regular meeting.

Section 9. In the absence of specific rules adopted by the Faculty, meetings shall be conducted in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order, latest edition.
