

Publications

Scott Jacques, assistant professor (Criminal Justice and Criminology), & Richard Wright (pictured), chair and professor (Criminal Justice and Criminology). (2015). Code of the Suburb: Inside the World of Young Middle-Class Drug Dealers. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press. The book, which is a “hot new release in criminology” on Amazon, can also be purchased at: <http://goo.gl/5HkVQ7>.

Dennis Young, professor (Public Management and Policy), J-L Laville, & P. Eynaud. (Eds.). (2015). Civil Society, the Third Sector and Social Enterprise: Governance and Democracy. New York, NY: Routledge, Taylor and Francis Group. (20% Discount Available – enter the code FLR40 at checkout.)

Katherine Willoughby, professor (Public Management and Policy) reports the following publications:

- With E.Y. Lu. Performance Budgeting in American States: A Framework of Integrating Performance with Budgeting. (2015). International Journal of Public Administration, 38(3), 1-11.
- With M. M. Rubin, (Eds). (2014). Sustaining the States: The Fiscal Viability of American State Governments. Boca Raton, Fla.: CRC Press, Taylor & Francis Publishers.
- (2014). Public Budgeting in Context: Structure, Law, Reform and Results. Hoboken, N.J.: Jossey-Bass Publishers.

Vjollca Sadiraj (pictured), associate professor (Economics), James C. Cox, Noah Langdale Jr. Chair and professor (Economics), K. Schnier, & J. F. Sweeney. (2015). Higher Quality and Lower Cost from Improving Hospital Discharge Decision Making. Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, forthcoming.

Bruce Kaufman, professor (Economics). (2015). Advancing Industrial Relations Theory: A Synthesis of British-American and Pluralist-Radical Ideas. Relations Industrielles/Industrial Relations, forthcoming.

Presentations

Jan Ligon, associate professor & BSW program director (Social Work) presented “The Effects of Substance Abuse on Families” in Hamilton and Stirling, Scotland, May 11-12, 2015. Sponsored by Scottish Families Affected by Drugs, he also presented to prisoners and staff at

Shotts Prison (near Shotts, Scotland), the country’s maximum security facility for men. Pictured in the photo with Ligon (second from left) are four officials from Shotts Prison including Christine Duncan (far right), executive director of the Scottish Families Affected by Drugs.

Georgia Health Policy Center Events

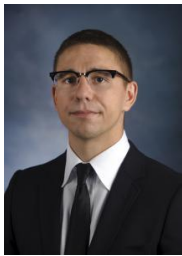

The Georgia Health Policy Center was a bronze sponsor for the Health Law Partnership (HeLP) Foundation’s annual event on April 30, 2015, held at the Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough, LLC law firm. HeLP is a collaboration among the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta, and Georgia State University’s College of Law and the Georgia Health Policy Center. Pictured: Georgia Health Policy Center staff Susan McLaren, Bill Rencher, Elizabeth Fuller, and Melissa Haberlen.

The Center of Excellence in Children's Behavioral Health (COE) in the Georgia Health Policy Center celebrated Children's Mental Health Day on May 7, 2015. Events were held at the Capitol and the Depot in the morning and COE and partners hosted the presentation "The Integration of Mental Health and Education" with Mark D. Weist, Ph.D., professor, University of South Carolina.

Media

Scott Jacques, assistant professor (Criminal Justice and Criminology) had the following media hits:

- Interviewed on the WNUR-FM Chicago radio program, "This is Hell!" on his and Richard Wright's recently published book, Code of the Suburb: Inside the World of Young Middle-Class Drug Dealers, May 11, 2015. <http://goo.gl/pyzVAL>
- Wrote a blog on Anthropoliteia website titled, "Social Control in the Streets and the Suburbs: Understanding the "Code of the Suburb," April 27, 2015. <http://goo.gl/DwS7u9>
- Interviewed on WABE-FM \(Atlanta's NPR Station\), "New Book Details Suburban Drug Use, Sales Among Ga. Teens," May 27, 2015. <http://goo.gl/Amq3zP>

Dean Dabney, associate professor (Criminal Justice and Criminology), was quoted in the Atlanta Journal Constitution article, "The Promise and Pitfalls of Cops and Cameras," May 25, 2015.

Dennis Young, professor (Public Management and Policy), was quoted in the Atlanta Journal Constitution article, "Michelle Nunn Brings Power Name, Depth of Leadership Skills to CARE," April 20, 2015.

The Atlanta Regional Collaborative for Health Improvement, led by the Georgia Health Policy Center, the Atlanta Regional Commission, and the United Way of Metropolitan Atlanta was mentioned in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution article, “Where You Live in Atlanta Affects Life Expectancy.” on April 29, 2015.

Karen Minyard, director (Georgia Health Policy Center), had the following media hits:

- Was a guest columnist in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution's Atlanta Forward Blog, “Creating a Healthy Life for All,” May 13, 2015.
- Was quoted in the Creative Loafing article, “Buckhead Residents Have Longer Life Spans Than Vine City Residents, Report Says,” April 29, 2015.

James Dills, research associate (Georgia Health Policy Center), was quoted in the New Jersey Spotlight article, “Public Health Impact Must be Part of Policy Decisions, Says Former CDC Official,” on May 11, 2015.

Alumni

Kelechi Uzochukwu, (Ph.D., Public Management and Policy, 2015), has been appointed to a tenure-track, assistant professor position at the University of Baltimore's School of Public & International Affairs (SPIA) in the College of Public Affairs, beginning in Fall 2015. Her primary teaching responsibilities will be in the School's Master of Public Administration Program, teaching Statistical Applications and Analytical Techniques, and in the undergraduate Government and Public Policy Program, teaching Urban Politics and Public Policy.

A Blast from the Economics Past....

Bruce Kaufman (left), professor (Economics), is pictured with former economics professor Arthur Schreiber during his visit with Schreiber and his wife, Carol, in Brevard, N.C. Schreiber, who served on the economics faculty from 1969 to 1998 and was associate dean in the College of Business where he served under five deans (Black, Mescon, Clark, Hogan, Harris), sends best wishes to all of his former colleagues and friends. Music has been a life-long passion for Schreiber and he has just finished serving on the board of directors of the Brevard Music Center and remains an active board member of the Brevard Philharmonic Society.

The Dean's E-News is a feature published by the AYSPS Dean's Office. For publication in the next issue, please submit your news items by Thursday at 5:15 p.m. to Marcia Jones Cross at mcross7@gsu.edu.