About the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies

Graduates of the Andrew Young School make important and unique contributions to their communities and the world. Informed by the school’s entrepreneurial approach to scholarship and research, they are well-prepared to plan, manage and evaluate the work of governments, nonprofits and businesses on the local, national and global levels.

Our students are enrolled in one of 20 degree programs offered in four academic departments: Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Public Management and Policy, and the School of Social Work. Advanced degrees are offered in each of these areas, including Ph.D. programs in Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics and Public Policy; or in one of two certification programs.

Our ten active research centers foster excellence in the design, implementation and evaluation of policy. In CY2017, our research projects were funded by $22.7 million in active sponsored grants and yielded 230 scholarly articles, chapters and books. Faculty and researchers take a multidisciplinary approach to this work.

More than 2,100 students enroll each semester, creating a diverse and talented group of individuals who are highly sought after as graduates. From Decatur, Georgia, to Yogyakarta, Indonesia, graduates of the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies at Georgia State University are changing the world.

Andrew Young School Academic Departments

Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology

Studies that measure research productivity consistently rate our criminal justice and criminology faculty and programs among the best. Our widely acclaimed faculty continue to shape the knowledge of crime and justice, using their research and experiences to provide our students deeper understanding of criminal justice and criminology issues.

Faculty members tie together research, theory and policy in the courses they teach, providing students a well-rounded education that sets them apart from other criminal justice graduates. A mandatory internship program enables students to integrate their understanding of theory with practice. The department also publishes two highly regarded scholarly journals, Criminal Justice Review and International Criminal Justice Review.

Graduates of the Andrew Young School are well prepared for careers in criminal justice and criminology. Many choose to further their education in top graduate programs and law schools.

Dean Dabney is Chair of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology.

Department of Economics

The emphasis on policy distinguishes economics instruction at the Andrew Young School. Faculty specialize in public economics, environmental and labor economics, urban and regional economics, and experimental methods, with growing emphasis on the empirical evaluation of public policies and programs. The department features innovative research resources, including the Experimental Economics Laboratory, and maintains a strong multi-disciplinary approach to policy analysis. The department has 31 full-time faculty members, and will grow over the next five years to over 40 faculty, making it one of the largest economics departments in the country. A full range of degrees – Bachelors, Masters, and Ph.D. degrees – is offered.

A 2014 Southern Economic Journal analysis of the scholarly productivity of economics faculty ranked the Andrew Young School 11th in the fields of public economics, No. 8 in urban and regional economics, No. 14 in general economics and teaching, No. 16 in methodology and history of economic thought, no. 20 in environmental economics, and No. 23 in labor demographic economics.

Graduates of our economics programs are highly sought after. Many are making significant contributions in government, academia and public sector careers.

Shiferaw Girmu is Chair of the Department of Economics.
Department of Public Management and Policy

A culture of knowledge and inquiry advanced by empirical research infuses this department. Our graduates are highly qualified for professional and managerial careers and leadership positions in a wide variety of public, nonprofit and private agencies.

Students inspired by the ideal of community service graduate ready to lead with new knowledge and practices that improve governments and society. Specialties are city management and urban policy, public finance, public and nonprofit management, and public policy analysis. Popular areas of research include transportation, education, health policy, emergency preparedness and relief, and planning and economic development.

Internships and job placements have led Andrew Young School graduates to responsible positions at all levels of government, nonprofit agencies and the private sector. Our graduates work to make the world a better place.

Gregory Lewis is Chair of the Department of Public Management and Policy.

School of Social Work

Excellence and distinctiveness in teaching and learning, research and scholarship, and service and outreach are earmarks of our successful social work program. Our graduates excel in careers that build healthy communities, maximize human potential and promote social and economic justice.

Faculty members have developed deep research expertise in social work contexts and practice areas such as child welfare, restorative justice, housing and income issues, aging, community organizing and practice, mental health and addictions, HIV/AIDS, and health disparities. They work towards social solutions in collaboration with community partners and students, combining classroom and experiential learning.

Undergraduates earn an accredited B.S.W. degree from the largest undergraduate social work program in Georgia. Our accredited M.S.W. program, with its unique concentration in community partnerships, prepares students for social work leadership roles.

Brian Bride is Director of the School of Social Work.
Andrew Young School Research Units

Center for State and Local Finance

The Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF) connects policymakers, practitioners and academics in public finance through innovative policy research and consulting, as well as premier executive education for state and local leaders. The center includes a team of administrative staff, researchers, affiliated faculty and graduate research assistants, who work together to serve governments and citizens in Georgia and beyond. CSLF is part of the Andrew Young School’s Public Finance Research Cluster. The Fiscal Research Center and the International Center for Public Policy also operate under this umbrella structure. The cluster is aimed at strengthening the school’s applied public finance research and training.

Jorge-Martinez-Vasquez leads the Public Finance Research Cluster.

Experimental Economics Center

The Experimental Economics Center (ExCEN) supports research, teaching and policy applications involving controlled experiments to promote the development and application of economics and related academic disciplines as empirical science. Ongoing research in ExCEN involves the development of economic theory supported by data and of new experimental methods to support policy applications. ExCEN’s research and teaching support facilities include the experimental economics laboratory and EconPort (http://econport.org), an economics digital library and virtual laboratory used by researchers and teachers worldwide. External funding is provided by the National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health, while core support comes from the Georgia Research Alliance and the state government.

James Cox is Director of the Experimental Economics Center.

Fiscal Research Center

The Fiscal Research Center (FRC) is the focal point for the study of state and local fiscal issues. Research staff and affiliated faculty conduct research and provide technical assistance on the important array of fiscal issues facing state and local governments in Georgia and the United States. Georgia’s state and local government agencies and elected officials turn to the FRC as the principal provider of policy analysis in areas that include national, state and local tax policy, fiscal analysis, federal tax impacts on states, education finance, government budgeting, intergovernmental fiscal relations, state economic development policy, and state and local economic conditions. The FRC also houses Georgia’s state fiscal economist, who is charged with developing revenue forecasts and analysis of legislation.

Kenneth Heagney is Director of the Fiscal Research Center.
Georgia Health Policy Center

The Georgia Health Policy Center (GHPC) connects decision makers with the information and guidance needed to make informed choices about health policy. Celebrating more than 16 years, the GHPC is at work in more than 220 communities in all 50 states. With two decades of experience, the center focuses on solutions to some of the toughest issues challenging health, including access to care, financing health and broader socioeconomic determinants of well-being, and aligning stakeholders to effectively serve society’s most vulnerable, including children, the mentally ill, and the elderly and disabled. The center’s core functions – evaluation, technical assistance, strategic planning, meeting design and facilitation, policy analysis and grants management – are used in a wide variety of projects locally, statewide and nationally.

Karen J. Minyard is CEO/director of the Georgia Health Policy Center.

Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange

The award-winning Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange (GILEE) is a joint project of Georgia State University and local, state, federal and international law enforcement and public safety agencies. Working in cooperation with the corporate sector and civic groups to better deal with threats to public safety and improve security, GILEE enhances law enforcement executive development with peer-to-peer on-site professional training and international cooperation. GILEE’s professional training exchanges of law enforcement leaders advances their knowledge of valuable security tactics in areas that include emergency management, homeland security, violent crime, special events, and the myriad of issues concerning urban and rural policing. To date, GILEE has carried out over 460 programs for more than 1,600 law enforcement and other executives. Of those programs, more than 210 were special briefings, seminars, and workshops for more than 32,000 public safety and corporate security officials in or from more than 25 states and 25 countries.

Robert R. Friedmann is the founder and Director of GILEE, ILEE, and several other initiatives that emphasize active involvement in a multitude of university-community partnerships.

Georgia Policy Labs

The Georgia Policy Labs is a collaboration between Georgia State University and a variety of government agencies to promote evidence-based policy development. GPL works to create an environment where policymakers have the information and tools available to improve the effectiveness of existing government policies and programs, try out new ideas for addressing pressing issues and decide what new initiatives are promising enough to scale up. The ultimate goal is to help government entities more effectively use scarce resources and make a positive difference in people's lives. This collaborative program began in 2017.

Tim Sass and Daniel Kreisman direct Georgia Policy Labs.
International Center for Public Policy

This International Center for Public Policy (ICePP) supports sound government policy and sustainable economic growth in the world’s developing and transitional economies by promoting the expert design, implementation and evaluation of public policies. Faculty and researchers conduct internationally oriented research and training programs and provide technical assistance to fiscal decision makers from around the globe.

ICePP trains public finance professionals who take the skills they learn back to their local and national governments. Our faculty members are recognized worldwide for their work in public economics. Their contributions have positioned the Andrew Young School as a critical capacity builder in many important emerging countries.

Jorge Martinez-Vazquez is Director of the International Center for Public Policy.

Nonprofit Studies Program

The Andrew Young School's Nonprofit Studies Program shows how the basic principles of policy analysis, economics and management apply to the nonprofit sector. Its strong emphasis on teaching nonprofit management and leadership in this context gives the program an advantage in training future nonprofit managers and directors.

The Nonprofit Studies Program collaborates with Atlanta’s nonprofit and philanthropic leaders on research and sector development. It promotes policy research relevant in today's economic and political environments, and links the scholars and nonprofit practitioners who are developing and disseminating knowledge about this sector.

John F. O’Kane is Director of the Nonprofit Studies Program.

Professional Excellence Program

The Professional Excellence Program provides innovative training and development opportunities to those who serve children and families in a variety of settings to include child welfare, education, healthcare, judicial, and community programs. The center’s mission is to support effective practice in work with children and families through the provision of quality professional development and training opportunities.

Sheila Blanton is the director of the Professional Excellence Program.
Public Performance and Management Group

The Public Performance and Management Group (PPM) seeks to energize the pursuit of performance in public organizations. Core activities include research and analysis, training, evaluation and the dissemination of information on best practices. This group works with governments to solve policy and management problems and conducts research that focuses on providing solutions. Its home base, Atlanta, is a state capital and an important urban center, and PPM makes the most of this exciting location. PPM’s projects tend to focus on state government, city issues and projects that produce local impacts.

Greg Streib is Director of the Public Performance and Management Group.

Urban Studies Institute

Founded in 2017, the Urban Studies Institute at Georgia State University conducts top-level urban research, offers an innovative and specialized interdisciplinary curriculum, and engages with stakeholders in metropolitan Atlanta and in other cities around the world. The Institute’s research agenda ranges from local to global, from urban theory to policy research. Research themes emphasize urban economic resilience, inclusive development, and urban sustainability. It is housed in the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies and its research and teaching engagements reach across the University. It is presently composed of five tenured or tenure track faculty, two postdoctoral researchers, and 25 affiliate faculty from a range of schools and disciplines.

Jan Nijman is Director of the Urban Studies Institute.

W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group

The W.J. Usery Workplace Research Group includes scholars at the Andrew Young School with research interests bearing on the workplace, labor markets, education, health, and related areas. In addition, related activities include the annual W.J. Usery Distinguished Lecture Series, seminar speakers, and an occasional research conference.

Barry Hirsch is the W.J. Usery Chair of the American Workplace and coordinates the Usery Workplace Research Group.
Faculty and Professional Staff Activities
Papers, Books, & Chapters: Published or Forthcoming

During 2017, faculty and research staff published 230 scholarly papers, chapters, reports, and books were published or forthcoming. It is also important to note that 62 (27%) of the published or accepted papers in 2017 were joint products of AYSPS faculty members, students, alumni, and research associates. AYSPS coauthors are bold within the entry, and students and alumni are indicated with an asterisk.

Outreach and Technical Support
State and Local Community Service

Outreach is an essential part of the mission of the Andrew Young School. Faculty, research associates and graduate students were heavily involved in Georgia and in the Atlanta region, in all manner of ways. We developed and implemented training programs, carried out applied research projects, spoke at public and private meetings, worked directly with government officials in evaluation of policy options, and served on boards of non-profit agencies. We tried to help make better policy in our state and believe we have added value in many areas. The following listing shows the very great breadth of our state and community service.

Advancement
Dean’s Council

The Dean's Council is an important part of the Andrew Young School. Members provide ideas and suggestions, serve as a sounding board for our ideas, and represent us in the community.

AYSPS Dean’s Council

The council is a non-governing advisory group, with a strong focus on the advancement of the School and helping the AYS achieve its mission by providing resources, assistance, and advice. The council meets quarterly.

We ask each council member to find an area of particular interest in the School, such as one of our centers, programs, or departments. We want them to learn about that program in some depth, get involved with what the program does, and then help us find intellectual and practitioner support as well as core funding for that program. This is a long-term activity—it takes time to develop programs and to raise funds. Council members provide critical perspective, and their advice and leadership are very important to us.

Development Highlights

Endowment
The Andrew Young School continues to grow our endowment through gifts and earnings. As of December 31, 2017, the total endowment for the college stood at nearly $14 million, representing funds for professorships, scholarships, and operations.

AYSPS continued work with its Dean's Society, an annual giving program that recognizes the generosity of our alumni, parents, and friends who have contributed $1,000 or more to any of the college's funds. Annual gifts from the Andrew Young School's Dean's Society members are responsible for wonderful and life-changing accomplishments for our students and faculty. These gifts help the college provide student scholarships, recruit and retain talented faculty, and support innovative and high-impact programs and research.

Outreach
Through donor support, the Andrew Young School was able to sponsor numerous outreach activities and public seminars covering important public policy, economic, criminal justice, and social work topics.

Public Relations & Marketing

In 2017, the Andrew Young School’s PR/Marcomm efforts focused on supporting the strategic goals of the school, particularly those in its strategic communications plan. Highlights included a 50 percent increase in media hits we were able to capture, award recognition for printed materials, and the production of another edition of the newly designed Andrew Young School Magazine.

Web content activity took the lead this year in the 30 of news stories produced internally and then posted on the Georgia State University and Andrew Young School news hubs. These stories were additionally leveraged via news release distribution and postings to and shares on social media, which expanded reader engagement.

A tighter focus on the school’s strategic communications plan produced even more coverage. Media interest in our faculty experts generated an average 2-3 phone calls a week, both from journalists and GSU’s PR/Marcomm office when looking for policy experts. Programs of the school generated significant attention, too, including: an Atlanta Journal-Constitution feature on YALI/Washington Mandela Fellows, a live interview with Chris Markle on the school’s new social enterprise degree with Atlanta Business Radio.

This department received several awards for the quality of its communications products, including:

- The CASE Special Merit Award for redesign of the AYS Magazine
- Best of Category PAIG Awards: 20-year anniversary booklet AND Graduate Recognition and Honors Day programs
- PAIG Award: Best Booklet for GSU Andrew Young School of Policy Studies Recruitment Viewbook

Social media was another major area of activity, with support provided to the school’s graduate admissions digital marketing campaign, support for the university’s first online Giving Tuesday campaign, and social media training provided to the faculty and staff of the school. The school’s signature print pieces – including the Andrew Young School Magazine, new faculty announcement card, commence and Honor’s Day brochures and fact sheets for the Georgia State Welcome Center—remained consistent in their quality.

Media

In 2017, nearly 300 media stories included mention of Andrew Young School activities, faculty, research, students and alumni were captured in news alerts and reported to the Dean’s E-News. As best we could find, news including our college appeared:

- At least 105 times in major local media, including
  - 9 stories in the Atlanta Business Chronicle
  - 47 stories in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution
  - 18 stories on WABE radio
  - 5 stories on WSB-TV
  - and other stories and faculty appearances on 11Alive TV, WSB radio, CBS46 News Atlanta, Global Atlanta, Georgia Trend Daily, GPB’s On Second Thought, CBS 46
News and other media

- At least 65 times in national/international media
- At least 63 times in Georgia media, including several smaller media channels in metro Atlanta
- At least 53 times in unique, targeted media channels as varied as Aging Today, BYU Radio, Harvard Political Review, HuffPost and the National Academy of Public Administration’s Management Matters newsletter

Andrew Young School faculty published five articles about their work in The Conversation, a national media portal that pitches research stories from faculty to major media, and 10 columns for the Thought Leadership in Higher Education section of the SaportaReport, a news weekly targeted to metro Atlanta’s business, government and nonprofit leadership.

Additionally, several Andrew Young School stories appeared in Georgia State Magazine and the student newspaper, The Signal.
Media Hits

In 2017, nearly 300 media stories that included mention of Georgia State University and Andrew Young School activities, faculty, research, students and alumni appeared in news scans and were reported to the Dean’s E-News.
